Our Learning

This week, the children have had a busy week making shortbread which they really enjoyed. We have also been continuing to learn about poetry and the children wrote a poem based on natural treasures. In art, we have been learning about architects and the children have been saying what they think about different buildings and whether they like or dislike them. In maths, the children have been putting their maths' knowledge to the test by solving some challenges and code-breaking.

Next week, the children are going to be learning about tally charts and block diagrams in maths. It will be an opportunity for the children to collect data about their friends and represent it in different ways. In English, the children are going to be looking at the poem, 'If I were an ant'. Also, we are going to be continuing to do transition work with the children to support them with the move to Year 3.
